HONEST SHARK IS FOUND IN FLORIDA

RETURN KNIFE TO FISHERMAN AT PORT LAUDERDALE AS EVIDENCE OF FACT.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Aug. 12.—When a man-eating shark runs off with bait, catch, tackle and even a knife, that is to be expected from the creature, but when the same shark brings the knife back—that's something else again.

Captain Ruben Munroe and W. G. Barron, Port Everglades pilot, returned from a fishing trip Monday with a story of the sea which will be hard to surpass.

They had hooked several red snappers and each time they started to haul them in, the old man-eater, some 14 feet long, would snap the major portion of the fish away. He would follow the quarry to the very edge of the boat for a second bite.

So Captain Munroe leaned over the side while Barron reeled in a snapper. As the shark swung alongside for his second helping of the fish Munroe sank his long fishing knife to the hilt in the man-eater's flesh, but the shark swam away with the knife still protruding from its back.

"Well, I guess that's the last of old Mr. Shark," Munroe said to his companion. But he was wrong.

Not more than half an hour later the shark again appeared beside the boat.

"What the—!" ejaculated the fishermen. Captain Munroe reached over the side and salvaged his knife before the big fish swam away.

Maybe the shark had enough snapper for one day. And on the other hand, perhaps, he did not have any use for the knife, while it was sticking in his carcass. Anyway, he did not bother the fishermen further.

Suing her brother because of injuries she suffered in an accident while riding in his car, Miss Germaine Faller, of Tiffin, Ohio, has been awarded $2,000 damages.

GEORGIA LEADERS TO SERVE GEORGIA

ORGANIZE TO DEVISE PLAN FOR SOLUTION OF PROBLEMS NOW PRESSING.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 9.—Forming of the Georgia Tax Revision Association for the purpose of joining forces with the governor, state officers and tax experts in a study of the state's taxing and fiscal systems, and recommending more equitable and effective measures to the legislature has met with state-wide interest.

The association was created at a meeting of representative business men, farmers and professional people held at Macon, August 5th, when Miller S. Bell, of Milledgeville, was named president and Ernest Camp, of Monroe, secretary.

Every section of the state was represented at the meeting and the unanimity of sentiment as to the possible usefulness of such an organization and the necessity for changes in present tax laws augurs well for the state's advancement and prosperity.

For years governors, state officials and citizens have realized the growing seriousness of the state's financial status and have wished for just such co-operation as is now volunteered by men representing practically every branch of Georgia's business activity.

That present tax laws are both inadequate to supply sufficient revenues and are driving millions of capital beyond the state is an accepted fact which should receive serious consideration by every citizen.

Members and friends of the Georgia Tax Revision Association appreciate the fact that law making, revision and repeal of laws is the function of the legislature, and there is no disposition to dictate to the conscientious body of men who have devoted their best thought to a solution of state problems.

BRANTLEY BLAMES GROWER FOR PRICE

SAYS FARMERS ARE RESPONSIBLE BECAUSE OF FAILURE TO TIE TOBACCO.

Blackshear, Ga., Aug. 9.—A. P. Brantley, head of the extensive Brantley enterprise in Blackshear and Pierce counties, has given a statement to the Blackshear Times in which he places much of the responsibility for the low price of tobacco this year upon the growers.

The first two weeks of the 1929 season 44,845,771 pounds sold at an average of 20.77 cents, grossing $9,310,040.

At five points the average price was better than thirteen cents and at only two points did the average price drop below ten cents.

Tifton market held the week in number of pounds purchased, more than two millions of pounds being purchased at six points, as follows: Blackshear, 2,603,006; Douglas, 3,116,614; Moultrie, 2,248,686; Nashville, 2,741,880; Tifton, 3,255,770; and Vidalia, 3,127,930.

The slight increase in price paid this week compared to the first week is offset by a better grade of tobacco, therefore growers are not conceding that there has been any general increase in prices thus far in the season.

It is expected that the peak of the season will be reached in the third week's sales. From these reports the Georgia crop would be valued at $100,000,000.

The Blackshear warehouse declared that tobacco offered there last week was of "very inferior quality." The Farmers Warehouse at Douglas says that "prices are a little better than last week."

The Lon Dickey warehouse at Fitzgerald makes this comment: "We find this crop of tobacco of a high color but of very poor quality, thin and papery." "The crop is very poor," says the Big Dixie Warehouse at Pelham.

Quick's warehouse at Quitman makes this comment on its second crop of tobacco of a high color but of very poor quality, thin and papery.

"The crop is very poor," says the Big Dixie Warehouse at Pelham.

Commissioners of agriculture of the Southern states were in conference with the Georgia commissioner, Eugene Talmadge, Monday endeavoring to find a plan by which better prices may be secured for tobacco.

Appeals to United States congressmen and senators cannot possibly assist the tobacco grower, he states.

North Georgia Forest Research Inaugurated

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11.—The Georgia Board of Forestry at its recent meeting approved of the plan for the Georgia Forest Service, the Georgia Experiment Station and the United States Forest Service will co-operate in carrying on research work in forestry for which an appropriation of $5,000 was made by the last congress.

The Georgia headquarters of the work is to be at the mountain branch of the Georgia Experiment Station in Union county near Blairsville.

The general direction of the projects to be studied will be given E. H. Frothingham, director of the Southern Appalachian Forestry Experiment Station of the United States Forest Service, at Asheville, who will co-operate with H. P. Stuckey, of the Georgia Experiment Station, and B. M. Lufborough, state forester.

A conference was recently held by the co-operating agencies and the lines of study to be taken up, and it is stated that active work will begin about September 1st.

TOBACCO SALES CONTINUE HEAVY

AVERAGE PRICES FOR THE WEEK ALSO SHOW SLIGHT GAINS OVER LAST WEEK.

Atlanta, Aug. 12.—South Georgia tobacco growers sold near thirty million pounds of their product last week at an average price of 12.42 cents per pound, an increase of less than two cents a pound for what is reported to be a better grade of weed than was offered the first week of the season.

Complete reports for the second week from all of the 59 warehouses, as compiled by the state department of agriculture Monday, show that a total of 29,386,988 pounds were sold at an average price of 12.42 cents for a gross of $3,649,880.54.

SERVING AMERICANS

Recent statistics disclose that use of electricity in American homes has increased more than 50 per cent in the past three years. In 1929 we employed 6,345,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electric power for domestic purposes; in 1929, this rose to 9,787,000,000. The average consumption of electricity by domestic customers is now about 500 kilowatt-hours a year, as compared with 220 in 1913. And, to complete the imposing statistical array of facts, the electric industry now serves 20,000,000 domestic customers, representing a population of approximately 84,000,000.

The amazing growth of the industry is attributed to four main causes: The large annual increase in the number of customers; the largely increased use of electric appliances; increased lighting and better illumination in the average home; and perhaps most important of all, the fact that cost of electricity per kilowatt-hour is now 28 per cent below the 1913 standard, while the general cost of living is 71 per cent above.

With the exception of those things that are vital to the maintenance of human life, it would probably be the general consensus of public opinion that electricity is one of the most indispensable commodities. It is directly responsible for our modern high standard of working and living conditions. It has, by giving the worker increased production, helped the trend toward higher wages and shorter hours. And it costs the average person less than two cents per day!

France will spend about $100,000,000 for naval armament in 1930.

WHOLE TRUTHS ESSENTIAL

Frederick M. Sackett, United States Ambassador to Germany, said to members of the recent World Power Conference, in a speech touching on the public utilities problem in the United States:

"I know of no other manufacturing industry where the sale price of the product to the great mass of consumers is fifteen times the actual cost of the article sold."

George N. Tidd, president of the American Gas and Electric Company, in replying to Mr. Sackett, said: "The cost of a banana on the tree is infinitesimal, yet by the time it has been gathered and reaches the fruit stand the ratio is nearer 1,500 to 1 than 15 to 1, and similar examples are common in all kinds of industries. The electrical industry is by no means the only, or even the most striking, example of this great difficulty (of the spread between production cost and the cost to the consumer). In nearly every industry the cost of distributing and selling is much greater than the initial cost of production."

"Ambassador Sackett has earned the gratitude of electrical engineers by drawing the attention of the public to the high cost of distributing electricity, which those engineers for years have been attempting to reduce."

"Perhaps the best analogy is in the supply of water for domestic use. The cost of production when the water is in the hills is nothing, but by the time it has been collected and purified and transmitted to domestic users, high expenses inevitably have been incurred."

"There is a continuous chain of costs in the process of producing electrical energy from water in the hills or coal in the mines. By choosing any particular point in this chain for calculating the cost of production, the best minds, whose judgment we respect, positively tell us that Mr. Sackett will not carry exceeding five cents in the state, if indeed he carries a single cent. It is now admitted that he does not carry his home country or Fulton, nor his old native county, Meriwether."

Miss Elsie Gordon, a typist, of Liverpool, won $54,000 in a race sweepstakes on the first ticket she ever bought.

Bulloch County Girl Speaks for Senator

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 7, 1930.
Hon. D. B. Turner, Editor,
The Bulloch Times,
Statesboro, Ga.

My Dear Mr. Turner:
I know you will permit me to have a line in your paper telling my many relatives and friends in your county a part of the story of my present affiliations with Senator William J. Harris.

I was born and reared near Metter when Candler was then Bulloch county. My father was Dr. Claude C. Parrish and my mother's maiden name was Miss Julia A. Lee, thus being a member of the large families of Parrishes and Lees in both Bulloch and Candler. I remember affectionately so many relatives and friends in your section, who, I am sure will be gratified to learn that among all my business connections in several cities I have the greatest satisfaction in telling them that no association in life has been more pleasing and useful than my connection with Georgia's distinguished senior senator, Hon. William J. Harris.

I feel that with perfect propriety I shall be permitted to say that this campaign has given me a wonderful experience, and it has brought me in touch with so many good people in Georgia. It will always be one of the most helpful and outstanding influences in my life. From the thousands of letters coming out of headquarters through the senator's contacts in his speeches and in his visits all over the state, from the leaders and prominent men in Atlanta and elsewhere calling at his headquarters, we are positively assured of the senator's overwhelming re-election. The best minds, whose judgment we respect, positively tell us that Mr. Sackett will not carry exceeding five cents in the state, if indeed he carries a single cent. It is now admitted that he does not carry his home county or Fulton, nor his old native county, Meriwether."

My heart goes back so often to the dear ones in the old South Georgia counties, intimate friends of my young womanhood, and relatives who have given me such an open welcome, and I wish them all to know that whenever possible my thoughts and footsteps turn towards these places.

and so soon as the crowded work of this campaign is over September 10th, it is my purpose now to pay another visit to these scenes. No one could be more interested in "the old home town" and Candler and Bulloch counties, as well as Chatham, than myself. No absent daughter feels more devotedly the memories of the years spent in that old South Georgia region. I am sending my best wishes and regards to relatives and friends there.

Most cordially yours,
MRS. EDNA PARRISH ROUSSEAU
(Formerly Edna Florence Parrish.)

50 Years' Use of Black-Draught

"About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Porterville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since. When I needed a medicine for constipation, I have used this remedy all my married life, in raising my children."

"I have used Black-Draught for years, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation."

"I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache."

"By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

One of the largest and most widespread philanthropic agencies confines its work to giving practical aid to the man who is suffering from temporary hard luck. This idea is, "A man may be down, but he's never out."

Match-Like Lipsticks Are Now in Vogue

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11.—If a girl carries matches—in Atlanta—it's no sign she smokes.

Not since the use of match-like lipsticks has become a fad. It's the newest thing—just 30 days from the hands of the originator and has struck Atlanta in the last few days.

The new lipstick looks just like a pasteboard book of matched, each "match" being an individual lipstick big enough for one application. All this is necessary is to moisten the lips and rub on the head of the match.

Officially the new lipsticks are known as allumettes, but fashionable shops in the Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta's civic center, that are distributing them prefer to call them match-like lipsticks.

MILLIONS SPENT IN FIGHT FOR CUP

FOR SEVENTY-NINE YEARS AMERICAN YACHTS HAVE LED IN CONTESTS.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 11.—Sporting events are few that have the glamourous history of the races for America's cup.

The contests date back to 1851, when the schooner America led eight of Britain's fastest yachts around the Isle of Wight. British yachtsmen have made thirteen unsuccessful attempts to recover the famous trophy since that year.

Sir Thomas Lipton will make the fourteenth and his own fifth bid when Shamrock V crosses the starting line off here, September 13.

Four American sloops, Enterprise, Yankee, Wetmore and Whirlwind, now are competing for the honor of meeting this challenger.

The schooner America was built on the lines of the New York pilot boat of the period. She was taken to England by Commodore John C. Stevens of the New York Yacht Club, who immediately issued a challenge to all schooners of the Royal Yacht Squadron.

His offer was not accepted, and finally Stevens decided to enter a race for a special cup valued at 100 guineas, approximately $600, open to yachts of all nations.

That cup, hotly desired and of dubious beauty, is the America's Cup, for which millions have been spent in defense and challenge, and other millions doubtless will be expended in the future.

The race was over a distance of fifty-three miles, in all sorts of fluky winds and contrary tides. America finished eight minutes ahead of Aurora, the first of the British yachts. The 79 years of subsequent competition have seen many changes in yacht construction and design. There was the cutter era, the schooner era, and some of the contenders were little more than racing machines.

Now the gaff rig has disappeared and all mainmasts are Marconi or jib-headed. The 165-foot hollow masts towering over the present contestants would dwarf some of the stately solid spars of early races.

In the past the British challenger was under a severe handicap. He was forced to build a yacht capable of coming to the scene of the race under his own sail, while the defender could sacrifice strength for speed.

This rule holds so far as the challenger is concerned, but the American defender must now be built according to Lloyd's specifications, thus guaranteeing the same general construction as the challenger.

Under these rules, it is generally conceded that Sir Thomas' chance of lifting the cup this year is better than ever before.

He is still at some disadvantage, however, for there can be but one challenger, while any number of prospective defenders can be built and after trial races the best boat selected.

Central President Quotes Motor Laws

Quoting a recent decision of the supreme court of Georgia, President A. E. Clift, of the Central of Georgia Railway, in a statement issued today discusses certain features of the regulation of motor vehicles using the public highways.

Mr. Clift's quotation is from the opinion of Justice Gilbert in the decision upholding the right of the Georgia Public Service Commission to regulate motor vehicles, and reads as follows:

"The effect of the growing business of operating motor vehicles for hire on the public highways must be apparent to every man of ordinary sense. Courts cannot be blind to those things which are apparent to every citizen. The construction and maintenance of the public highways is of vast importance to the happiness and prosperity of all. Upon our public highways are expended immense sums of money, time and labor, all of which must be supplied by the general public. The congestion, to say nothing of pure accidents and negligence, is exacting a toll of human lives and destruction of property that is appalling. It constitutes an increasing menace. The size and weight of such motor vehicles constitutes an extra burden on the wear and tear of highways, and adds to the dangers. It is unthinkable that the sovereign state cannot lay its hand on the traffic for the purpose of regulation, control or even prohibition where regulations are not obeyed. Such is a necessity for the public safety and because of the heavy burden of construction and maintenance. The state's constitutional power to tax and to regulate private operations of automobiles using the highways is in this day nowhere denied."

Mr. Clift closes with the assertion that statements such as Justice Gil-

"FLIGHT"

Written by Ralph Graves and directed by Frank R. Capra. This is the first all-talking drama of the air, "Flight," with Jack Holt and Lila Lee. The pals of "Submarine" take to the air in a sensational story of love and adventure. A picture such as you get once in a lifetime. Made with the United States Marine Corps. If tender love scenes, bright humor and hair-raising suspense have no effect upon you—then, don't see the biggest picture ever brought to Statesboro. The girl, she was beautiful, gentle, pure—yet, in her innocence, she made the love of two men for each other change to hatred. What would you do if the man you love asked you to love his pal? What did she do? What did he do? What did the other man do? See and hear the greatest romance of the year. This is Columbia's great ROAD SHOW attraction and will be shown for three days. It is daring! It is romantic! It is spectacular! Don't miss it!

SECRETARY CAMP MAKES STATEMENT

APPEALS FOR AID OF PUBLIC IN BRINGING ABOUT NEEDED REFORMS.

Ernest Camp, secretary of the Georgia Tax Revision Association, which is collaborating with the governor, state officials and experts in a survey of Georgia's tax and fiscal system, Friday gave out the following statement:

"I accepted the position of secretary of the Georgia Tax Revision Association following mature reflection and only after becoming convinced that I might participate in constructive service to the state and its people. In common with thousands of other Georgians, I have followed with sympathetic interest the efforts to ward tax reform by recent legislatures, while fully appreciating the difficulties with which the lawmakers had to contend.

"That these conscientious attempts to remedy the state's financial straits have not yet succeeded is less the fault of the legislature than it is the natural result of an outgrowth, antiquated system which is now so insurmountable and threadbare that a complete overhauling is necessary, and only through the assistance of experts can this be brought about.

"For this reason I feel that the work undertaken by the governor and the Georgia Tax Revision Association should have the hearty approval and support of all citizens who realize the inequalities of present tax laws and the embarrassing condition in which our state institutions find themselves.

"As a citizen of Georgia who loves his state and is interested in its up-building, I believe that all its institutions should be adequately supported without laying undue burden upon any class of tax payers and without resorting to methods which will strip capital from the state."

Camp states that messages and communications commending the work the association has begun are coming from every section of the state and that the organization is greatly encouraged at the outlook.

Camp is editor of the Walton Tribune, of Monroe, a former president of the Georgia Press Association, a director of the Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville, and has wide and varied newspaper experience.

Atlanta Insists Noise Shall Cease

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 18.—Is the locomotive whistle to fall before the advance of the "Less Noise" army in Atlanta, and the rest of the country? Recently there have been hints that a whistle less general in its noise may be devised. It would be difficult to imagine a railway train without the whistle accompaniment. It has been the noise of progress in Georgia and the South. Even a less noisy whistle, it is claimed, would take some of the thrill and romance from railroading.

In the days when the first trains dashed across the Western prairie at a speed of almost 25 miles an hour, buffalo herds stampeded in sheer fright. Indians listened with horror to the shriek and fled in terror before the "iron horse."

The vocational agricultural boys of the Register community who are members of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association met at the school Saturday afternoon, August 16th, for the purpose of setting their gin days laying plans for a pure seed association. The members of the Cotton Growers' Association are:

Aubrey Anderson, Garland Anderson, Regional Anderson, John Bowen, W. B. Bowen, Lehman Dekle, Hubert Brannen, Woodrow Powell, Herbert Powell, John Akins, Inman Akins, Earl Kennedy, Thomas Wiggins, Junius Wiggins, Douglas Williams, J. M. Tidwell.

These boys were financed through the Cotton Growers' Association. They have practically all of their work in their crops and have a total of seventy-four acres in cotton. They used Coker super-seven, strain 5 cotton seed, direct from the Coker farm. They have found that when they all work together they can do more work and accomplish more, so they will gin co-operatively as well as sell that way.

Monday, August 25th, has been set for the gin day at the gin of Foss and Foy in Register. Tuesday, August 26th, will be gin day at Foy's gin at Adahale. Each boy will gin at the gin nearest to him. The ginners are to clean the rolls and be prepared to give the boys only their variety of seed.

After the boys have finished their organization they will offer their cotton seed for sale under the name of the Register Vocational Seed Association. They will have their germination test run and be in shape to let the farmers know just what they will sell.

All of the boys are enthused over their field of cotton. Several of them picked one thousand pounds and better off their three acres the first picking. They hope to get two bales and up off of three acres. The boys have good corn crops also.

Edwin Cooper sent an air mail record by flying 127 miles in 48 minutes on the Cleveland-Pittsburgh line.

Large sums of money have been paid out for labor and most of the tobacco towns report that trade generally has been stimulated.

A survey of reports from various points indicates that the shortage of clean water is bringing acute distress in many places. Bathing beaches have been closed in a number of eastern cities, while in several western states conditions have reached the point where water for drinking purposes will have to be rationed unless relief comes soon.

According to reports from Indiana and other states, the stage is all set for a vast typhoid epidemic. The increase in disease has also followed the increase in reports of general resort to uncertain water supplies, usually consumed without the precaution of boiling the water. At Quantico, Va., tank barges have been pressed into service to supply water since local potable supplies failed.

While population increases are partially responsible for the shortage, engineers believe that one of the greatest factors contributing to the present situation is that water supplies for domestic purposes are becoming more and more scarce through public tendency to turn natural water channels into open sewers.

According to authorities, natural water resources are as much in need of reclamation as other of the nation's resources, and clean water is probably more important than most. It is believed by engineers that there would be no fear of shortage at the present time if the nation had been supplied with sufficient water reclamation projects. Reclamation, through the elimination of sewage pollution, is regarded by sanitary and health authorities as one of the next great steps in the direction of good health for the United States.

Continuation of the present day policy in regard to the handling of sewage, together with obvious population increases, may well be expected to turn some similar drought period into a national disaster, health officials declare.

Commissioner Stanley Is Valuable Servant

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 20.—Continuing his efforts to reduce the appalling cost in Georgia of lives and limbs as the result of industrial accidents, H. M. Stanley, commissioner of commerce and labor, last week addressed six groups, totalling several thousand industrial workers, in Brunswick.

Employees of six different industrial concerns received from his remarks a new impetus toward winning in the race they are making to see which group can make the best showing in the fight against carelessness.

Records during the administration of Mr. Stanley show a steady decrease in the number of last-time accidents and reduction generally in the number of accidents in Georgia, which many industrial leaders attribute to his aggressiveness in promoting the safety of industrial workers.

At the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. D. Peebles, who is visiting in Norfolk, Va., the pulpit at the Baptist church will be occupied Sunday morning and evening by Rev. H. D. Warrick, of Forsyth, Ga. Rev. Warrick is spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Barnes.
